Dear Otto and Annie:

I hadn't realize that the reason for Otto's being around next year was a Guggenheim! Congratulations. I read it in this morning's NYT.

Bernie has enlisted me in this MW-future ^(as you can well imagine) My feelings are very mixed. Even if you could find the guy a grant, will he even go about applying for it? It's all too sad.-- Just like the horse and the water!

Anyway, Bernie said something about a year in Germany on a grant being a good thing. So I asked Bob Schmid. He suggested SSRC and the American Council on Learned Societies (to which Ford has given money) as being possible sources. He also said that there are a couple of "East-West Institutes" in Germany (to which the Foundation has also given some funds?) which might have grants. Should I write Horkheimer and Goldschmidt? Or Minssen and Goldschmidt. I know you never met Minssen. He's working closely with Horkheimer on this politische Bildung project that started when they came over.

I've written all this to Bernie as well. But perhaps you have some other ideas.

Love and xxx to you both and see you in May bibi

PS More gossip: did you see the announcement of Stuart Hughes' new marriage in the NYT society page Friday? If you didn't you're due for a surprise. Not only did he marry a student just about half his age (that's normal - ~~xxxx~~ Hans Meyerhoff new darling wife is a little over half his age, though not a former student) but they were married by a RABBI!

OK, that's all for now - better save it for the future, or you won't be interested in talking with me!
