Niagara CSEA Grievance Victory Worth $22,585

LOCKPORT — The Civil Service Employees Assn. has won a monumental grievance that forces Niagara County to dole out $22,585 in back pay to 47 county nurses.

The grievance erupted more than a year ago when the county changed the working hours of nurses at Mount View Hospital from 40 to 35 hours per week.

In conjunction with the change, the county claimed the nurses were paid at an hourly rate and lowered their salaries accordingly. The CSEA's Niagara County chapter, headed by William Doyle, immediately challenged the county's ruling.

Mr. Doyle contended that CSEA's contract with the county provided a set salary no matter how many hours were worked.

The county finally succumbed after the disagreement had gone the first three steps in the grievance procedure.

The back pay was for all of 1972 and ranged from $1.60 for one nurse who retired Jan. 1, 1972 to $1,847.75. The average return was $450.

The current year was not considered since nurses went back to a 40-hour week Jan. 1.

James Stewart, CSEA field representative, helped argue the grievance for the chapter.

Reappointed

Edward J. Wegman, of Grand Island, has been reappointed as a trustee of Erie Community College for a term ending June 30, 1983.

10 Groundsmen Win Back Pay

ONEONTA — A third step grievance filed by the Civil Service Employees Assn., which involved payment of standby pay for 10 groundsmen at the State University College at Oneonta, has been settled in favor of the grievants.

According to Paul Burch, CSEA collective negotiating specialist, the 10 employees had been placed on standby on-call rosters by their superiors at various times from 1971 to 1973 even though the Oneonta campus had not applied for an official standby on-call roster from the State Division of the Budget.

The payroll department of the State University College at Oneonta applied for retroactive standby pay for personnel and employee relations department in Albany "that the Department of Audit and Control will not approve standby pay for groundsmen or any other State employee except those in nursing titles."

Acting under the direction of Lucille Cope, president of the State University College at Oneonta chapter of CSEA, the employees grieved violation of Article 13, section 13.2 (1970-72) and Article 14, section 14.2 (1972-1973) of contract agreements between the State of New York and CSEA.

State University supported the grievance and got approval for the payment of back pay from the State Department of Audit and Control and the Division of the Budget.

Janice L. Decker of the State University personnel and employee relations department added in her letter to Burch confirming the agreement. "The campus (Continued on Page 14)

State, Regional Elections

Candidates Draw Slots On Ballots For Sept. Vote

ALBANY—Positions on the ballots for the Civil Service Employees Assn.'s statewide elections were determined early last week when candidates from virtually all the regions were on hand to witness the random drawing which told the order and gave consideration for independent nominating petitions still coming in from the regions for various offices.

The drawing was conducted by the special elections committee chaired by Bernard Schmahl. Assisting Schmahl were representatives from the Amsterdam Data Processing Company which has been selected as the impartial outside agency which will send out the ballots and be responsible for security and vote count.

Each random selection included a slip for a blank space on the ballot for an independent nominee. According to CSEA's constitution, names for independent nominees can be submitted as late as 50 days prior to the first day of the organization's annual meeting.

"The blank was treated as a candidate," according to Schmahl, "and each office shows a spot, numbered as drawn, where the independent nominee's name will appear should it be received by August 12, which stands as the deadline date."

Ballots are dated to go out on September 7th and are returnable by September 21st. Following is the list of candidates as drawn who will appear on the election ballot:

Rockefeller's Bond Issue — A New Era In Transportation History

IN the long sweep of New York's history, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's 3.5 billion dollar transportation bond proposal can be placed in perspective only by comparing it to the Erie Barge Canal, the New York City subway system and the New York State Thruway.

Each played a part in our past.

Imagine what New York's economy would be like if none of these had been built.

Raw materials from the mid-west could reach the Port of New York only through expensive overland routes.

FDNY Plans To Open 10 New Houses And Order 3,000 Voice Alarm Boxes

In efforts to replace obsolete firehouses and to insure that equipment is no more than 10 years old, the Fire Department has announced the opening of 10 new firehouses, the purchase of 40 pumpers, and the ordering of 3,000 street voice alarm boxes.

Under a $15 million modernization program for 1973-74, seven of the new firehouses will be located in Manhattan, two in the Bronx and one in Brooklyn. Two of the houses will accommodate police stations and one will house a new medical center for FDNY.

Planning for the new houses was initiated four years ago, according to a Department spokesman, and "has no bearing on" the decision to discontinue six companies and to relocate seven others recommended by the Rand Corporation and implemented by the Department last fall.

The spokesman indicated that selection of new locations was based upon the need to adapt to changes such as those in traffic patterns so that the new house might be "a couple of blocks away" from the original site.

In addition to the 40 new pumpers, each equipped for the use of "rapid water," the Department will use carry-over funds from last year to purchase 11 tower ladders and 30 rear-mount aerial ladders.

The Police Department will split the $4 million cost with the Fire Department to convert 3,000 street alarm boxes to a voice operation.

Deputy Fire Commissioner Rae Archibald said that with the "fastest possible" conversion rate, "we expect to have 5,900 of the new call boxes, out of a citywide total of 15,000, in operation by January, 1976."

Richard Hanrahan, head of the 180-member Fire Alarm Dispatchers Union, said that while the Department is "claiming how good all of this is," there were still problems to be worked out with the voice boxes. The main problem, he said, was that moisture gets into the boxes and short-circuits the system.

Another "bug to be ironed out," according to Hanrahan, is that "if a bell alarm is pulled while the voice box is being used, it throws everything out of whack." He said the reason for this had not yet been determined.

The most publicized snag in the voice system has been the claim by the dispatchers and the Uniformed Firefighters Assn. that there is only one Spanish-speaking dispatcher on the force. This lack could prove detrimental to any non-English-speaking citizen who wants to report a fire, they have said.

The unions also say that the use of voice systems requires more manpower particularly if "we have to man the police end too," Hanrahan said.

In addition to the opening of 10 new firehouses, 20 present ones will face major or selective renovations during the year, the Department said.

Locations of the new firehouses expected to be in operation at the end of the fiscal year are:

Manhattan: 48th St. and Eighth Ave. (Engine 54—Ladder 4); Sixth Ave. and Kings St. (Engine 24—Ladder 5); 125th St. near Amsterdam Ave. (Engine 37—Ladder 40); Lafayette St. near Prince St. (Engine 13—Ladder 20 — Medical Center); 102d St. near Third Ave. (Engine 53—Ladder 43); E. 104th St. and Third Ave. (Engine 35—Ladder 14); and Broome and Pitt Sts. (Engine 17—Ladder 18—7th Pet. station house).

Bronx: Co-op City (Unit numbers undetermined at this time); E. Tremont Ave. and Daly Ave. (Ladder 60).

Brooklyn: Howard Ave. and Livonia Ave. (Engine 283, Squad 4).

The Department has plans to build a firehouse in the vicinity of Bell Blvd. and 73d Rd. in eastern Queens and another unit to house Engine 265 and Ladder 112 in Arverne, in the Rockaways, Queens.

Projects in Brooklyn include new buildings for Engine 204 and Engine 226 in the downtown area; Engine 237 and Engine 218 in Bushwick and Engine 236 and Engine 332 in East New York.

The Bronx is expected to have a new building for Engine 68 and Ladder 49 in the Highbridge area and for Engine 41, Engine 71 and Ladder 55 in the Melrose section.

Flaumenbaum Asks Strong Presidential Action On Halting Inflation Rise

MINEOLA—Nassau Civil Service Employees Assn. chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum wired President Nixon last week with an appeal for inflation control.

Flaumenbaum's telegram warned that guidelines on settlements with no boundaries on inflation spell disaster for the nation.

He warned that labor has accepted settlements within guidelines in good faith.

But, instead, he wired Nixon, "all the gains we have made through negotiations are being eroded... As President, you have a responsibility to use all means at your disposal" to bring inflation under control.

He noted that the explosive rise in prices is creating hardship not only among working people but suffering among retirees.

"You must start some action," the CSEA leader's telegram warned.

Could Wipe Out Gains
It was noted that hundreds of municipal contracts throughout the state have been negotiated in observance of the President's guidelines.

Flaumenbaum had earlier told the Nassau Board of Supervisors, during the latter stages of difficult contract negotiations, that national inflation could make meaningless the pay scales of everyone in the civil service and in private employment as well.

"Inflation is the number one problem facing us," Flaumenbaum said. "This item of negotiation or another item are meaningless if we have runaway inflation." Civil servants have been responsible. It is time for public servants at the top to act to protect us all."

Smith Charges Continued Harassment At Willowbrook

Employees of Willowbrook State School in Staten Island have become so angered over harassments and firings according to Ronnie Smith, president of the Willowbrook chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., that in a letter dated July 17, has demanded of Dr. Miodrag Ristich, director of the institution, "positive action to correct the total situation."

Smith said that working conditions are unbearable and horrible, that toilets are in disrepair and that a high attrition rate has resulted in a shortage of attendants.

"This," Smith says, "currently leads to an unsatisfactory condition where one attendant is responsible for supervising 16 residents, and it is not unusual to see two supervising 45. Recently, one attendant, fearing personal injury, refused to enter a ward because of the potential danger."

"Building 23, in charge of Dr. Sheldon, is symptomatic of the deplorable conditions existing at Willowbrook" says Pat Fraser, chairman of the chapter's Grievance Committee. There are half a dozen accidents every day and fights occur regularly and frequently between residents. Attendants have been bitten, thrown against walls, and their glasses pulled off and broken by hyperactive residents.

Fruitless Talks

Ms. Adele West, the CSEA field representative assigned to Willowbrook says that meetings with Dr. Ristich have been non-productive and fruitless. "He does nothing to resolve the grievances of the employees," added Ms. West. "As a matter of fact," she says, "Ristich has exacerbated an acknowledged bad situation by supporting the firing of Mrs. Rosemary Siegel, a team leader in Building 23." Mrs. Siegel is the second team leader to be dismissed in the space of six months.

The employees recently marched with their residents to the Administration Building to protest the firing and shouted that "Mrs. Siegel was the best thing that ever happened to Building 23." They have called for an investigation of the institution and of Sheldon's behavior.

In a related matter, a federal judge has ordered the monitoring of Willowbrook by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Judge Orrin Judd, following an action against the Willowbrook Administration brought by the New York State Association for Retarded Children directed a one-to-nine ratio of attendants to residents. The Administration was also directed to make improvements in the school's facilities.

Says Hiring Cut

Ronnie Smith, on behalf of the union's members, in a recent letter addressed to Judge Judd stated that the administrators of Willowbrook are curtailing the hiring of support services personnel and claiming that this is due to the court order dealing with direct patient care. Smith, in requesting of Judge Judd a clarification of his order, stated that "a strict administrative interpretation of the court's order is resulting in the deterioration of support services on one hand, as an excuse to seek increased productivity from already understaffed, essential services on the other."

Assemblyman John LaFalle is seen as he addressed a political action meeting of the Western Conference of the Civil Service Employees Assn. Listening are, right, Sen. Jess Present, also a speaker, and Mrs. Sara DaRe, president of the Buffalo State Hospital chapter.

The Department also said the exams will not be held at the site of the New York State Library Association annual meeting being held this year in Atlantic City.

Because of the expense that out-of-state travel would involve the examinations will be given at a location within New York State rather than of the NYSLA convention, as in the past.

A list of qualifications and exam applications for the announced positions can be obtained from any county or city civil service commission as well as from the State Civil Service. The job titles announced are numbered 27-296, 27-295.

Probation Officers To Caucus On New Casualty Fund

The next meeting of the Probation Officers Union will be held Monday, August 13th, at 4:30 p.m.

The main topic to be discussed will be financial redress in the event of theft or assault and theft of officers' money and/or other personal goods.

The union's Family Court representative, Paul Pudillo, has been working to produce a plan that would be satisfactory to probation officers who are members of Local 832.

To this end, Pudillo has recommended Probation Officer's Compensation Fund be established.

Pudillo has recommended that in order to qualify for reimbursement from this Fund:

- 1—The theft must occur while in the line of duty;
- 2—The theft must be reported to the police;
- 3—A memo describing the particulars of the theft must be submitted to the branch chief and to the union. The cost of the lost articles and the approximate date of the purchase of the items stolen must be submitted to the union on a form to be prepared by the union with the value of the lost items, any question as to such to be determined by the fund committee;
- 4—Approval or disapproval of payments will be made by the fund committee. Local 832 members only will be entitled to this benefit.

New Teaching Program In Dept. Of Real Estate

A new program which will be training selected employees as teachers to fellow employees is being launched by the Real Estate Commission, announced its Commissioner, Iran Ducan, last week.

This program is a new approach toward improving training techniques and facilitating the training of new skills to employees. Working in conjunction with Cornell University and the City's Department of Personnel, the program is being piloted by two selected real estate employees who will be taught new skills developed to streamline operations and the techniques necessary to train other employees in these skills. The men chosen are Stephen Lenczewski, a Senior Real Estate manager, and Arnold Martin, a Real Estate manager.

If successful, the pilot project will lead to an expansive ongoing training program within the Real Estate Department.

William McDonnell, president of the Conference of Court Officers, said that the contract made it obvious that a security force such as recommended by the Administrative Board of the Judicial Conference be established as soon as possible. "We need supervisory personnel from among the uniformed court officer personnel, not from the ranks of the stenographers, interpreters, and washroom attendants," he said.

Both union officials urged all court officers to join their only hope for "a better tomorrow." Local 832, Headquarters of the union at 325 Broadway, Manhattan, and a telephone to the union at CA 6-4023, would bring a membership card in the mail immediately. "Join now," both officials urged.

500 Civilians Will Replace Traffic Cops

About 100 city parking enforcement agents will be promoted to "traffic director" within three months, thus civilianizing a job performed by police officers, according to a bill passed unanimously by the City Council last week.

The bill, to be signed into law by the Mayor within 10 days, allows for the absorption of 500 civilian traffic directors into the city's Traffic Department. They will have the power to issue summonses, and will thus free police officers now on traffic duty for anti-crime work.

Appointees will undergo six to eight weeks of training before assuming the job, which pays $8,500 to $9,000 to start.

The 100 parking enforcement agents, successful candidates on the senior parking enforcement agent exam, are being promoted to initiate the change-over as soon as possible. A competitive civil service exam, however, will be held in order to recruit 400 more traffic directors. The Leader will report the requirements and dates when the specifications are officially announced by the Department of Personnel.

A spokesman for the Department said that as soon as the Mayor signs the bill into law, "Action will be taken very quickly" to recruit more traffic officers, although what course Personnel will take is uncertain at this point.

Not surprisingly, the Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn. has protested this further civilianization of police officer jobs on the grounds that police officers are better equipped to enforce the law and have been trained to act in situations in which a civilian might not be aware of the hazards or options.

An Involved Group

FOR years, now, there has been much clamor in the news media over the apathy of the average citizen toward civic and charitable activities and a general lack of interest in the welfare of one's neighbor.

From time to time, we receive news of civil service union members running for office in their organization and we are proud to report that the biographies submitted by these candidates almost always contains a listing of their activities in the areas listed above.

It is astounding how many men and women in public employment use their spare time to aid the poor, the young, the ill. Some of this involvement is personal. A good deal of it is done through such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Red Cross, church groups, fraternal and sorority organizations, voluntary hospital units. The list could go on and on.

In other words, we sincerely believe civil servants to be among the most dedicated citizens to the American tradition of charity and civic duty.

This is something people in the private sector of business and industry should be reminded of when they paint a picture of public employees as slothful and overpaid — that after a day's work on the people behalf, the work goes on in terms of commitment to humane projects and the bettering of civic life.

Questions and Answers

Q. I sent an old X-ray bill dated September 1970 along with some recent bills to Medicare. Although I received payment on the recent bills, I got nothing on the X-ray bill. A note in the letter said the deadline for submitting this bill had passed. Can you give me the deadline for sending in Medicare bills?

A. For doctor and other medical services you receive from January through September, you must file the bills by December 31 of the next year. For services you receive from October through December, the bills must be sent in by December 31 two years later.

Q. My sister works as a cook in several private homes and I work seasonally as a cook in a hotel. Since we both do the same kind of work, don't both of us get social security credit for what we're paid?

A. Not necessarily. Since you are employed by a firm operated for profit, you get credit under social security for all your earnings up to $10,800 a year. However, your sister is a household employee. For her earnings to be credited under social security, she must be paid at least $50 in cash wages by one employer during a quarter.

Q. I'll be 62 this June when I retire. Since I was born in Germany, the only proof of age I have is a baptismal certificate, issued when I was a year old, but it is written in German. A friend told me I might have trouble when I try to use it because it's in German. Is my friend right?

A. No. Since your baptismal certificate was issued before you were 5 years of age, it is a preferred proof. Bring the certificate with you when you apply for retirement benefits. We'll translate it into English and return the original to you.

Don't Repeat This!

higher because of more costly transportation.

Manufactured goods from the New York City region would reach the midwest hinterlands less directly. And at higher prices.

These are the lessons to be drawn from the opening up of cheap and efficient transportation.

The Skeptics

History has shown that bold and imaginative ideas are often scoffed at by skeptics. By those who fear anything new or different. Or by those whose vision is clouded by partisan positions.

So it was a 150 years ago, when Governor Dewitt Clinton's plans for the Erie Canal were attacked by his contemporary critics.

And so it was just a quarter of a century ago, when some sought to gain political capital from opposition to Governor Thomas E. Dewey's proposals for the State Thruway.

The name of the Indian, who no doubt was scorned by his tribal chieftans, but nevertheless dreamed about and proceeded to build the first canoe, transportation that opened up vast areas of the state for hunting and fishing and trading, is lost to history.

But the history of the steamboat called "Fulton's Folly" is well known. A predicted failure, Fulton was laughed at up and down the wharves of New York bay . . . until his ship steamed up the Hudson to Albany and back.

Stop to contemplate the contribution the steamboat has made not only to New York State, but the rest of the country and the world.

New York today faces no less a challenge in its transportation needs for the future.

No less a bold, imaginative design equal to the dimensions of the critical transportation problems confronting the citizens, business and industry of New York State is required.

Governor Rockefeller's proposals envision a creative and comprehensive transportation program intended to integrate planning of mass transportation facilities with other transportation resources.

What's In Store

First, at a time when rising prices confront the consumer with each purchase, the Governor's proposal guarantees for two years at the very least a uniform mass transportation fare of 35 cents throughout the State and a freeze on commuter fares.

Proceeds from the transportation bonds will build new and improved subways in New York City. New railroad lines in upstate areas. Preserve railroad facilities threatened with abandonment by the Penn Central and Erie Lackawanna Railroads.

The transportation bonds will make it possible for communities throughout the state to acquire new and better buses and without increasing present fares.

Since no other realistic alternative to Governor Rockefeller's program came forth before the Special Session of the Legislature adjourned, criticism for partisan or personal purposes becomes an abuse of the public platform.

We well remember speaking a few months ago to one of the men we respect most on legislative affairs. He told us we would be fortunate to hold the fare to

Civil Service Law & You

By RICHARD GABA

Mr. Gaba is a member of the firm of White, Walsh and Gaba, P.C., and chairman of the Nassau County Bar Association Labor Law Committee.

Can Strikers Qualify For Welfare?

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare defines an unemployed father as one who works less than 100 hours per month. In a recent case entitled, "Davidson v. Francis," decided in the Federal District Court in which a striker applied for and was denied welfare, it was held that the definition by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare was exclusive, and that the State of Maryland was therefore precluded from making eligibility requirements for welfare assistance any more stringent than those imposed by HEW. Maryland appealed the decision to the United States Supreme Court which refused to reverse the District Court, and therefore resulted in leaving the issue as it was.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued a new regulation which leaves the states free to determine whether or not strikers qualify for welfare benefits. This regulation became effective on July 12, 1973. It was explained in a statement by the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Caspar W. Weinberger, who defended the hands-off policy of his department. He said that any other alternative which was considered would have resulted in setting an hours-of-work test to determine the eligibility of strikers to receive welfare. He stated that the new regulation would permit the states great flexibility in the administration of welfare programs. The states would be free to determine the best position for them to take when viewed in the context of the individual circumstances and the situation involved. He said, "A federal mandate either to include or exclude strikers would be undue interference with states' decisions on the extent of the program. If such a mandate is desired, it should be set by Congress through the customary legislative process." The Administrator of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Social and Rehabilitation Service indicated that the new regulation applies to certain optional programs of Aid to Families with Dependent Children — Unemployed Fathers. There are 24 states which currently operate the AFDC-UC programs.

APPARENTLY STATES have been making their own determination as to whether or not to assist the families of individuals who are on strike. The HEW regulations were not specific on this issue, since the agency definition simply defined an unemployed father as one who works less than 100 hours per month. The new regulation continues the same definition; however, it stipulates ". . . father whose is unemployed by reason of conduct or circumstances which result or would result in disqualification for unemployment compensation under the state's unemployment compensation law." At the present time, only two states, Maryland and Oregon, exclude from welfare coverage fathers who are on strike, or who for other reasons do not qualify for unemployment compensation under states law.

45 cents. And most experts predicted 60 cents.

The Consequences

What will happen if such a coordinated transportation program is not forthcoming?

Immediate will be massive increases in subway, commuter and bus fares throughout the state.

A breakdown in mass transportation services. A setback for a philosophy of mass transportation.

Increased and inflationary prices for all commodities because of higher transportation costs.

Countless new "ghost towns" will dot New York State when their links with other communities are abandoned by the bankrupt railroads.

It is known that the Governor has been working to get meaningful involvement by the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey in mass transportation.

Voters will vast an historic ballot in November.

The Transportation Bond Proposal holds a key to a greater prosperity for every segment of our population.

For business and industry. Farmer and professional. Blue collar and white collar workers. For those in the professions and small retailers.

The Governor's transportation bond proposal is the promise of orderly economic development of New York State in the decades ahead. A new era in transportation history.

FIRE FLIES

by Paul Thayer

Lest we forget, last Wednesday, Aug. 1st was the third anniversary of the death of Battalion Chief William C. Rinsdale of Battalion 17. None of his companies could get to him because of double parked cars at Davidson Ave. and 179th Street. The Chief, desperately in need of help, dropped dead of a heart attack. The street is still full of double-parked cars, three years later. May he rest in eternal and everlasting peace.

In a recent issue of THE LEADER, a report in the form of a statement by Acting Commissioner Vincent Canty dealt at length with the circumstances surrounding the delayed alarm for a fire in the Penn Central tunnel under Park Avenue at 76th Street.

Something has come to mind and I pass it on for what it may be worth.

It seems obvious that Park Avenue at that point is a pretty classy place. You cannot be poor and live there and it is believed that most people who do live in the area are above average intelligence, own phones, know how to use them . . . and do.

During the investigation, I wondered if anyone thought to check the incoming tapes at 911 where all calls received are recorded. I would dare say that, starting with the time the train left Grand Central and taking it through to its conclusion, 911 was possibly deluged with calls about smoke pouring from the gratings on the center mall. In keeping with past policy in such matters, while sector cars were sent to the location, I just wonder if 911 ever did notify the Manhattan Telegraph that they were receiving such calls?

A representative of a large Midwestern city was recently in New York to observe 911 first hand. Upon his return to home base his report was brief and to the point: "After what I saw in New York, it's not for us." Case closed.

A woman recently called 911 and reported that her infant son had gotten into the medicine cabinet and swallowed a quantity of pills. The 911 dispatcher gave her the private phone number of the F.D. telegraph office in the borough in which she lived. She called the number, explained her plight and while the dispatcher held her on the phone he called the Department of Health's poison control office which is open 24 hours a day for just such emergencies. He quickly got the antidote from them and passed it on to the distraught woman on the other phone. All ended well. Congratulations to the 911 dispatcher for using his noggin.

A week or so ago, Ladder 40 in Harlem responded to a verbal alarm for a citizen in distress. Upon arrival, they found a citizen in desperate need of oxygen and they notified the dispatcher accordingly. The dispatcher is still bound by the rules which call for dialing 911 and requesting the Emergency Service Division to respond for purpose of administering oxygen. After a painful interval of waiting, the dispatcher came back to say that "Emergency Service is not available at this time." He then special-called the eleventh battalion which is equipped to render the desired service at the scene of fires only.

The question in my mind is: When in the name of God's green earth, has ANYONE ever dialed OPERATOR and asked the FDNY for help only to be told that help was not available at this time?

To that fellow who wrote such a glowing defense some weeks ago, it is suggested that he place that little nosegay in his book of memories.

A whole slew of high brass is about to retire. I sometimes wonder if the F.D. print shop when setting type for "the order" will perhaps run out of "R's." With the return of Commissioner Lowery from vacation, it is expected that a large bag of goodies in the form of promotion for the bright young Chief Officers among us will be soon forthcoming. That order should be most interesting.

A while back, Engine 84 and friends were responding to a phone alarm for a fire on 151st Street between Broadway and Riverside Drive. En route they received additional word of children trapped in the burning apartment whereupon the brothers quickly donned masks and were ready to go instantly upon

Aug. 10 Is Deadline For State Training Programs

ALBANY — State employees interested in training courses this fall have until August 10 to make application for such programs. These courses are supported by training and development funds negotiated between the Civil Service Employees Assn. and the State and are limited to State employees in the Administrative, Institutional, Operational, and Professional Scientific and Technical negotiating units.

"Each employee who is a member of one of the designated units and who is interested in the program, should submit his application for participation in a course of his choice on application form PS 220.5. This form may be obtained through the personnel training officer of each State agency. Because courses are scheduled to begin during the week of September 17, it is essential that all employees make application as soon as possible."

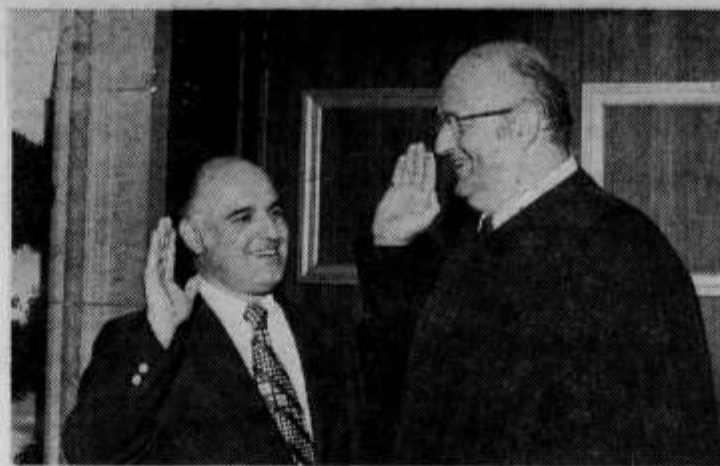

The basic concept of the Employee Benefit Training Courses is to assist employees in improving their skills in areas in which they have deficiencies. Thirty-three different courses are being offered for the first semester in forty-four locations or facilities throughout the State. Course location is based primarily in employee population density, with every effort being made to minimize the distance which an employee is required to travel in order to pursue a course of his choice.

Available Courses

Courses available beginning in September include the following:

Fundamentals of Supervision, Administrative Supervision, Concepts of Modern Public Administration, Introduction to Public Personnel Administration, Fundamentals of EDP, Principles of Accounting, Part I, Fundamentals of Stationary Engineer, Part I, Fundamentals of Stationary Engineering, Part III, Small Engine Workshop, Advanced, Diesel Fuel System Maintenance, Basic Electricity, Part I, Basic Electricity, Part II, Electrical Motor Controls (Applied), Automotive Skills Refresher, Truck Brake Maintenance, Basic Welding, Beginning Typing, Beginning Shorthand, Intermediate Shorthand, Refresher in Secretarial Techniques, Secretarial Workshop, Public Relations for Supervisors, Basic Conversational Spanish, Intermediate Conversational Spanish, Understanding and Interpretation of Written Materials, Report Writing Workshop for Supervisory Personnel, Introduction to General Psychology, Psychology of Interpersonal Relations, Introduction to Child Care, Beginning First Aid, Advanced First Aid, and applied Mathematics.

Diamond indicated that a joint CSEA-State Education Committee had been established to study further development of this program.

Fire Flies By PAUL THAYER

arrival in front of the fire building. One of the brothers was Fireman Dan Sullivan with 15 years on the job and as dedicated a firefighter as you are likely to find anywhere. He really loves the job. As the rig came to a screeching halt, Dan hopped off, but the weight of his Scott pack threw him off balance and down he went with a crash right on the tank, pulling his hip out of the socket and doing an awful lot of damage to the bone. It will be months before he can put weight on his hip. His future in his beloved F.D.N.Y. is, to say the least, very much in doubt. He wrote asking for anything which would keep him in touch with "the job" and he shall have it, but meanwhile, dip your pen in sunshine and drop him a card with a note to 3 Jones Drive, Garnerville, New York. Or call him for a chat at 914-947-1776. Cheer him up a bit! He deserves it!
